Purpose Statement

Franklin United Methodist Church is a fellowship of believers who have come together as a family of faith. Together we have established the following purpose, vision, and mission statement:

Purpose:

Willing and ready to follow and serve Jesus Christ.

Vision:

Franklin UMC shares God's love, Christ's sacrifice, and our faith for the salvation of the world.

Mission:

We believe in Jesus Christ whom we follow, serve, and share.

Key Verse:

“For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.” John 3:16-17

POLLY'S PONDERING

I was listening to a TED Talk by Brene Brown, the Huffington Foundation's Endowed Chair at the University of Houston. She was speaking on vulnerability. This seems so timely, especially in the wake of Simone Biles' shocking action of pulling out of the team events and the All-Around gymnastic event at the Olympics.

Brene Brown starts the talk by making the statement that "Connection is why we are here. It is what gives purpose and meaning to our lives. This is what it's all about. It doesn't matter whether you talk to people who work in social justice, mental health, and abuse and neglect what we know is that connection, the ability to feel connected, is neurobiologically how we are wired. It is why we are here." From a Christian perspective we know this is true as well. After all didn't Jesus say that the greatest commandment is "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind...and the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments." Matthew 22:36-40 In other words, we are created to love God and to love ourselves equally as well as we love our neighbors. We are to be connected to one another! Not only are we wired for it - it all flows from our connection to the One in whose image we are created.

So, if you are an enemy of God and you want nothing more than to create chaos to God's created order, you might introduce into the people of God the fear that they are not connected, the thought that they are not able to be connected, and or the feeling that they are not even worthy of being connected.

Shame is one of those tools of the enemy. "Shame is really easily understood as the fear of disconnection. (Brown)" The scripture tells us that Christ came into the world not to condemn it but that through him it might be saved. (John 3:16-17)

Fear is another tool of the enemy. Sometimes it sounds like this: "Is there something about me that if people know it or see it that I won't be worthy of connection?" Through God's word we hear: "God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind." 2 Timothy 1:7

So when the enemy whispers that no one could love you because (fill in the blank) shout back "For I am convinced, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor rulers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 8:38-39 NRSV. We will always be connected to God and God's love through Jesus Christ.

So, if we believe as Brown does that "... in order for connection to happen we have to allow ourselves to be seen, really seen" then, we must have the courage to allow ourselves to be seen. This takes a willingness to be vulnerable. It means that we have to be willing to be seen both in our perfection and our imperfection.

The first step is to accept that you are created worthy. God said after creating humankind that it was very good. And we were created in the image of God. Our worth is directly tied to God. To be unworthy is to say that the image from which we were created is flawed, imperfect, not worthy.

The second step is to refuse to numb yourself to the emotions of fear, embarrassment, feeling of insignificance. To do so is to also numb yourself to joy, happiness, and gratitude.

It seems to me this is the place in which Simone was wrestling with over these last few days. Perhaps it looked like this. If I fail to do well, will I still be loved? What will happen if I let these girls down? Will they still love me? What will the nation think about me if I fail to live up to expectations of perfection? I could never forgive myself if I kept these girls from getting a medal.

The third step is to be courageously vulnerable. As Simone walked off with her head held high, I believe she modeled for us the ability to be courageous through vulnerability. And as she embraced it, able to come out and experience both the messiness of imperfection and the joy and gratitude of a team that allowed her to be imperfect and loved her anyway, she modeled a willingness to tell the story of who she is with her whole heart. Somewhere in the process, I believe, their connection became stronger because they were able to be authentic with each other.

Now what if we would be courageous to be vulnerable before God and one another - imagine the strength of the connection we would experience because we were able to be authentic before the LORD. Join me in listening to Lauren Daigle tell her story with a song rich in vulnerability and full of hope through the assurance that we are worthy of love and purpose, fellowship and connection because God says so.

The FUMP CORNER

"Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. Truly I tell you, anyone who will not receive the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it."

When Jesus was on the Road to Jerusalem during his final days of ministry, people brought their children to him to be blessed. When people brought their children to Jesus, he not only blessed them, he laid hands upon them. Jesus never pronounced a blessing over someone other than person whom he said belonged to the "Kingdom of God." I loved studying about the meaning of a blessing in the Bible.

How many times do we say, "I am blessed?" What does that mean in today's world? It means the same as it did in Biblical days- a divine favor from God. At the preschool, our staff is blessed everyday by the children who walk through our doors. We have the opportunity to minister to them and their families. During the difficult times of our world, I am asking the staff (and myself) to take a deeper walk in our spiritual lives. We will be teaching more lessons throughout the day about the stories in the Bible. Everything we do will be a blessing from God because without Him we can not do it.

We have so many blessings this year and I shout "Hallelujah!" Our enrollment is at capacity, we have a full staff which is six classroom teachers, a full-time aide, a music teacher/part time aide, an assistant director, and myself. Thank you Jesus, we are blessed.

Thank you for your prayers, love, and support.

In Christ,
Sherry Buchanan,
Director FUMP

Lifting Up our Youth

As the school year approaches, each of our Youth Group members will be facing a new year of challenges and hurdles.

Wouldn't it be great if they had someone in their "corner" encouraging and lifting them up?! You could be that person. We are hoping each of our youth will have an individual Prayer Partner and the details of exactly what this would look like are coming. So please consider being a partner to one of our awesome youth.

Questions or volunteering? Contact Cathy Reed (979-255-7281)

Mission of the Month

After School Knowledge

The Connections Committee is beginning a new ministry that will focus on helping elementary school children (Kindergarten through second grade) after school with their math and reading skills. There will be some manipulatives needed to get this ministry off the ground so the Monthly Mission for August will be to collect funds to help offset the costs of these manipulatives and other start-up costs.

More information will be forth coming on other ways to assist in this new ministry.

Everyone makes choices throughout the day, to work or cheat, to interact or ignore, to respect or demean. As Christians, we have a different perspective, and a different calling, regarding every choice we make. This dramatic illustration asks us to choose daily to put aside the self and choose Christ over all.
